COMMUNITY UPDATES

Welcome to our October Issue!

There's plenty to celebrate in our community this month. Suspended Gravity returns with an incredible lineup for its latest production, while our frequent earth-based dance partners di Mossa mark a huge milestone of their own. You'll also find our monthly class directory inside. Thank you for your Teacher's Forum interest! if you missed connecting with Kellie McDaniel, email info@satellitedance.com. Have a workshop, milestone, or event to promote? Submit your November news by October 30th HERE.

More about Suspended Gravity's newest production, SHADOW PARADE

The SHADOW PARADE is an eerie envoy into the world beyond the veil. Enter Grimm's Creek, a town outside time and space whose citizens' lives turn upside down thanks to a roster of cryptids from a realm far beyond – some good, some bad, some in between. Don your Hallow's Eve best and follow us on this sometimes-beautiful, sometimes-terrifying journey where you'll encounter creatures inspired by the world we live in, the challenges we face, and the magic we find daily.

Celebrating Wins

Congratulations, Lisa Valerie and her company, di Mossa!

This Summer and Fall, di Mossa is celebrating 5 years since our first stage performance and the charter of the company as a non-profit arts organization. There have been many milestones to celebrate along the way, such as 2 full-length evening theater productions, 3 in-studio shows, and several guest commissions from partners Nashville Dance Collective, Belmont University, and Satellite Dance!

This August, our artistic director was featured in Nashville Voyager. Click HERE to read the feature!
